TO DEAL WITH IT LOCALLY

Mr. Willerov Introduces His Dog Chaining Bill and Offers Substitute.

LET THE SUPERVISORS DO IT

Provisions May be Applied to Any County Where People

passed upon his bill, all. All the last night:

"I have no special objection to becoming fambus, but I do not like for my fame to come on too suddenly. A few days ago I introduced a bill in the House of Delegates requiring parties living in the country to keep dogs chained in certain months for the protection of young game and partridge nests. This bill I consider by far the least measure I have introduced in the House, and the only one on which I have not expended a good deal of study; nevertheless, it has been noticed and commented upon favorably and unfavorably through the press of the State.

been noticed and commented upon favorably and unfavorably through the press of the State.

CONSTITUENTS ASKED IT.

"The bill, as introduced, was drawn by me, and provides that dogs shall be chained from May to October; tixes a fine in case of disobedience, and allows parties finding dogs on their premsies during this period to kill them; but the introduction of this bill was at the request of some of my constituents, who are as worthy citizens and as good Democrate as any in this State. Therefore, the bill is no hobby of mine; nor do I care specially about it, one way or another; nor does it concern me in the least personally; for it has always been my practice, and ever shall be, to keep my own dogs chained during the hatching and breeding season of game; also to shoot dogs prowling on my premises whenever I see fit.

"I am here as a representative of the people of Virginia, and it is my duty and desire to do all I can to protect the liberties of the citizens, to advance their interests, and not impose hardships or any law contenty to their wishes; therefore, I have withdrawn my former bill and offer the following as a substitute:
"Ist. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That the board of supervisors of any country may, by unanimous consent, enact such laws in regard to keeping dogs chained or confined for their entire county, or any district thereof, as they deem necessary, for the protection of game,

"24. No such law passed by a board."

thereof, as they decided protection of game, "2d. No such law passed by a board of supervisors shall have any force outside of the limits of its own county."

The comedy, "A Friend of the Family," in plot is simply a very old idea worked over again, but as long as the untwisting of such tangles causes an audience to become hilarious, there is no reason to find fault. "A Friend of the Family" is one of those farces in which a married man finds himself confronted with an old flame, who comes into his happy home and proceeds to make her presence very unpleasant to the master of the house. All of the characters that usually fit in a plot of this sort are given a place in the mixed-up affair, and there is a door which, as in all such farces, is made to serve as a means of a hurried exit for the surplus female whose presence is not at all desired. This exit is accompanied by the use of "force" on the part of the married man, just as his wife enters from the opposite door.

Mr. George W. Barnum played the part of the husband in that rapid-fire, touch and go stylethat carrier a scene along at a lively pare, He is a clever comedian, and did his work well. Miss Alice Johnson, who was the woman in the way, was sprightly, and was quite convincing in the role. The entire company was capable, and the three acts went with a vim and dash that gave the audience little time to do anything but laugh, which they did with great heartliness.

Messrs. Sam S. Shubert and Nixon and Zinimerman will present the Jefferson De Angells Opera. Company this afternoon and to-night at the Academy, in the musical hit. "The Torcador." Mr. De Angellz, it is said, is pleasing his many admirers and creates no end of laughter with his really clever impersonation of Sammy Gigg, the timid footman, who manages to become involved in a series of most ludicrous complications, finally being mistaken for the leading Torcador of Spain, and is expected to fight six buils. The musical numbers of this pleed are tuneful and catchy. Among the principal ones are "The Language of the Flowers," "Dreamy Eyes," "All Right," "I'm the Glory and Prule of the Land of Spain," "Everybody's Awfully Good to Me," "When I Marry Susannah," "Away to Espana," "Keep Off the Grass."

melorama, "For His Brother's Crime," will be given at the Bijou Theatre this atternoon and to-night. The engagement here has been a successful one in every respect, the audiences being large and appreciative.

Howard Hall and his company, playing in Noriolk this week to crowded houses, will begin an engagement at the Hijou Theatre Monday night. The play is the same which was here last season, "The Man Who Dared." The company supporting Mr. Hall is, according to the opinion of the critics of other cities, a most capable one. The gowns worn by Miss Fuller, the leading lady, are said to be magnificent.

Colony of Giants. Colony of Giants.

W. A. Gunn, of Lexington, Ky., has suggested a unique feature for the Kentucky exhibit at the World's Fair in St. Icus. There is, according to him, in Eastern Kentucky, a family of seven sons whose height runs from six and a hist to seven feet, and he proposes that the Siate arrange for them to form the nuclaus of a reunion of glants, which would undoubtedly prove a popular attraction at the exposition. There were eight in this family, but one of them died. They are middle-aged men, mainly farmers, finely huit and of good appearance. The committee to which Mr. Gunn sent the suggestion has taken the matter up with the Kentucky Exhibit Association, disclosing the identity of the family, and an effort will be made to induce the men to go to the proposed reunion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 5.—The 'honor system" of conducting examinaions, an institution that is cherished by Princeton supporters next to none other, Princeton supporters next to none other, has been violated by five members of the university, and no little indignation has been aroused among other undergraduates by the announcement. Four freshmen and a student irregularly connected with the university have been tried by the student committee on a charge of cheating in examination, and being "found guilty," were to-day expelled by the faculty.

accordance with one of the provisions of the "honor system." the names of the students expelled will not be made public. The "honor system" has been estab-lished here for elven years, and viola-tions have been few and far between. Inder the system a man is placed entirely upon his own responsibility dur-ing examinations, and is only required to sign a statement that he has neither given nor received assistance.

STORIES OF TO-DAY

Beyond Endurance. Beyond Endurance.

Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, tells a good stery on himself as a struggling young lawyer, says the New York Tribune. He was the counsel for defense of a negro charged with murder. He hadn't much of a case, but tried to make up for his lack of facts by the eloquence of his address to the Jury. It was of no avail, and finally the day for hanging came around, and the doomed man was told he could have fifteen minutes in which to say his last words. There was a large crowd present, a larger one than Mr. Blackburn had ever had the good fortune to reach the ears of. The future senator saw his opportunity. He had a row hurried words with his client, in which he palnted the waste of words it would be for the unfortunate man to talk at such a time, and impressed upon him what a godsend the opportunity to make a speech would be to him, Blackburn'the negro somewhat reluctantly agreed to let him go a head. Thereupon, much to the surprise of the auditors, Mr. Blackburn launched into an effort on the issues of the hour. He was proceeding to his own entire satisfaction when he felt a tusging at his cont-tails. Claneing around he encountered the pained expression of the megro. Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, tells
